HAY FEVER

by Noël Coward

This play takes place in Cookham, England, in June of 1927

ACT I

Saturday afternoon

ACT II

Saturday evening

ACT III

Sunday morning

"Hay Fever" was inspired by the unconventional home life of a Bohemian New York family--- playwright Hartley Manners, actress Laurette Taylor, and Laurette's two grown children, Margerite and Dwight Taylor. Coward transplanted the eccentrics to England and changed their names, but anyone who had ever visited the Manners' recognized their unique brand of hospitality in the Bliss family.
